FINALIST FOR ICI CASTING AWARD!

DIVE SHELL – Fine Arts Category

This is an example of a shell that was not strong enough to support the weight of the metal material poured into it. Once the shell was full of metal, the shell blew out and 90% of the base metal leaked, creating the piece of art. We learned from this blown out shell that we needed to enhance the strength of the shell. This is a great example that all failures are not necessarily scrap!
