Investment Cast Magnesium Steering Wheel Armature

Artisto Cast is a leading expert in the world regarding the casting of magnesium using the investment casting process and the primary reason we were selected to assist in the redesign of a steering wheel armature. This steering wheel needed to have the outside ring machined from 304 stainless steel billet which then would have the armature over-molded around the ring in AZ91E magnesium using the investment casting process. This gave the customer both the strength required for crash testing but also reduced the overall weight of the steering wheel.
