Flight has no boundaries.

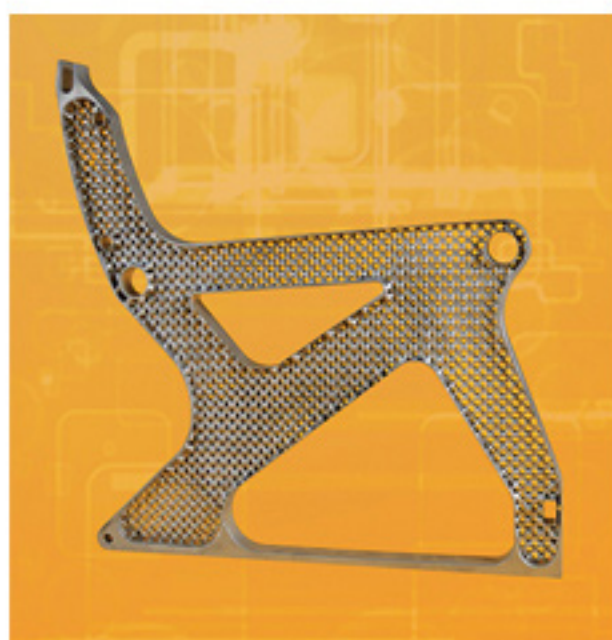

AS9100 certification

In the aerospace industry, there is no place for parts that don't meet the very highest standards of quality. We know that the quality of each one of our parts will have a direct impact on passengers and flight crews, and because of this, we address quality with unwavering diligence. Aristo-Cast is extremely proud to announce that we are now fully AS9100D certified, in addition to our existing ISO9001:2015 certification. The AS9100 standard expands the requirements of ISO9001 to meet demands of the defense and aerospace industries. This milestone was achieved with the dedication of the whole Aristo-Cast team.

Innovation in flight

From aluminum-beryllium investment castings for the F-35 Lighting II Stealth Fighter Jet and complex drones, to saving millions of dollars in savings with an award winning magnesium aerospace seatback frame—you can count on Aristo-Cast as your partner in everything for flight.
